I had a chance to talk to Garnett and Sally about items 8 and 9 (review processes) and they told me that this has been addressed in policies adopted over the past few years. I have not yet checked the administrative policy web page to verify. I will take a look when the family leaves town early next week.

Enjoy your Thanksgiving!

It takes a moment or two to figure out their code: the color code section identifies several different issues, and the text at the bottom is their summary of the changes that were made in the second agreement. Start with the text at bottom: that's what was addressed in the new agreement (in their reading). Then look at the top, color-coded section: the red text is what they think did not get addressed. Those are the issues they (the students) are pushing on.
